

IN DEFENSE OF the light jacket

Daily Temperature by Season (2010)

winter - 'the pea coat'

spring - 'the blazer'

summer - 'the cardigan'

autumn - 'the varsity jacket'

San Francisco experiences a wave of heat during the autumn months - but its temperature stays relatively stable, hovering between 50 and 70 degrees.

While many tourists believe that the bay area's weather patterns resemble those of its SoCal counterparts, natives know just how wildly the city can vary. While its temperature stays relatively mild

'the coldest winter I ever spent was a summer in San Francisco.' - unknown overall, a light jacket helps even the hardiest adventurer once the fog starts rolling in. So, when in SF, consider seasonality, accessorize well, and always, always bring a light jacket.
